

The devices are networked either wired via Ethernet or wirelessly via radio (ZigBee).

Hybrid networking with Ethernet and radio is also possible.

This makes it easy to provide flexible access even to distributed infrastructures.

